UPSTREAM-DOWNSTREAM CANOE RACE WINNERS—Winners of the third day of the Upstream-Downstream Canoe Race at the first annual Milltown Festival were Alton "Skeeter" Feldhauser and Artie Annis, both of Grayling. With the starting signal, canoe racers sprinted from the Historical Building starting point, plunged into the river on both sides of the new foot bridge and paddled rapidly out of sight beyond the railroad bridge. The upper end of the course was at a mid-stream flag turn around just below the M-72 West bridge, from which they returned to the footbridge. The course was highlighted by passage thru a stump field and lily pads with attention focused on directive buoy markers. Enthusiastic participants, including amateur and professional racers, felt the course was interesting, very competitive and worthwhile. In general, they hoped the race would become an annual event. The races were set up and sponsored by the Crawford County Motel and Resort Association. All canoes were generously loaned by local canoe flyers.

Injured in Jeep Overturn Accident

GUARDSMAN INJURED—Bystanders gather around the overturned jeep driven by MAJ Carl H. Grinnwald of Otsego to comfort the seriously injured officer prior to the arrival of an ambulance. According to Camp Grayling military police reports, the jeep flipped into the air and landed upside down about 120 feet from the point of impact with a compact car driven by 18-year-old Cynthia D. Ladouceur of Belleville, Mich. Miss Ladouceur is the daughter of a Guardsman in training at Camp Grayling during the Aug. 3-17 encampment. She was not seriously injured. MAJ Grinnwald was listed in critical condition with severe head injuries following the accident which occurred at the intersection of M-93 and Grayling Ave., just north of the main entrance to Camp Grayling, at approximately 4 p.m. on Wed., Aug. 14.

[Special to The Avalanche]

MAJ Carl H. Grinnwald, 40, of 483 Earl St., Otsego, staff officer with HHC, 48th Infantry Brigade, was seriously injured in a two vehicle accident at the intersection of M-93 and Grayling Ave., just north of the main entrance to Camp Grayling at approximately 4 p.m. on Wed., Aug. 14.

MAJ Grinnwald, the brigade S-4 (supply officer) was leaving the Camp Grayling cantonment area when the jeep he was driving apparently went out of control and struck the rear of a compact car driven by 18-year-old Cynthia D. Ladouceur of Belleville, Mich. After the impact, it was reported, the jeep flipped into the air, rolled over three times and landed about 120 feet north of the point of collision. MAJ Grinnwald was reported to be trapped under the jeep immediately following the accident but was lying beside the smashed vehicle when an ambulance arrived at the scene. Miss Ladouceur, daughter of 1SG Charles Davis of Headquarters and Headquarters Company 156 Signal Battalion, was shaken up by the accident but not seriously injured.

According to Miss Ladouceur, she was stopped on M-93 preparing to turn onto Grayling Ave. when the jeep driven by MAJ Grinnwald struck her car in the rear.

MAJ Grinnwald, who suffered severe head injuries, was taken to Grayling's Mercy Hospital where X-rays were taken and an initial examination of his injuries made. He was then evacuated to Wurtsmith Air Force Base hospital where it was determined his injuries required the services of a neurosurgeon. He was subsequently transferred to St. Mary's Hospital in Saginaw where he was reported in critical condition in the hospital's intensive care unit with a skull fracture.

The accident is continuing under investigation by the Crawford County Sheriff's Department and Camp Grayling military police.

We're the National Bank of Detroit. And we're the only bank in Michigan with petroleum engineers on staff.

Which means, when you establish a trust or property management relationship with NBD, we can give you the level of advice and management skill you need to profitably maintain your oil or gas properties. We can keep you abreast of Michigan's mineral laws and regulations. And help you invest the proceeds from your oil or gas properties through a trust account.

In short, because of experienced people like Ray George, our Trust Division Vice President and Petroleum Engineer, we can help you find out how much your oil or gas properties are worth, help you get your money's worth out of them, and help protect and invest your money once you have it.

6 Complete Mechanics Institute

Bill Scheer, of Scheer Motors, Incorporated in Grayling, announced today that six (6) of his mechanics successfully completed recent tests of their competency conducted by Educational Testing Service of Princeton, New Jersey. As a result of this accomplishment, each mechanic who passed has received a certificate from the National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence indicating the areas of his demonstrated competency.

Mechanics who took and passed all tests were certified as General Automobile Mechanics.

In addition to his certificate, each mechanic will receive identifying shoulder patches, to be worn on his uniform.

The successful mechanics are: Robert Rudy, H. Robert McConnell, Laverne Perry, Earl Knight, Steven Harris and Thomas Welsh.

The Institute is a non-profit corporation dedicated to encouragement and promotion of a higher standard of performance in automotive service. The Institute's tests are difficult but fair. The tests are conducted simultaneously at more than 200 locations throughout the nation. The test questions are changed each time the tests are administered, so that no person taking the tests can have advance knowledge of the test contents.

I married a hardhat

What really bugged me was when she said, "It needs more grout."

Grout?

That's when I decided to tell you about the mushrooms, even if she does kill me and she will.

I mean, my wife said grout the same way I'd say potato. Everyone knows what a potato is. But what the devil is a grout?

She was trying to put me down. I knew that. Grout had something to do with the $400 tiling job a workman was currently doing in our shower. She was cutely pointing out that we had to pay him $400 because I was too dumb to do the job myself. I was so dumb, in fact, I didn't even know what grout was. She was remembering the time she sent me to the neighbor's garage to swipe a pair of pliers and I came back with a monkey wrench.

I wouldn't give her the satisfaction. I simply nodded my head wisely and said, "Right, more grout is needed. Now more than ever."

Then I ran out of the house, jumped in the car, sped to work and grabbed the dictionary. Grout is "a thin mortar used to fill cracks and crevices between masonry."

Now how in the hell did she know that? What did I marry, a bricklayer?

That night, at dinner, I casually remarked, "Remind me to check the grout in the shower. For $400 I want to make sure he didn't miss any crevices."

"You looked it up in the dictionary," she said.

So if she's going to treat me that way, I'm going to tell you about the mushrooms. That's how we discovered the shower walls were leaking and water was seeping everywhere. One morning I leaned over to wash between my toes and I saw a cute little mushroom growing between the tile crevices (that's where the grout goes, you know).

So help me, I am telling you true. It looked just like the ones that grow on the golf course. Naturally, I was excited. After all, how many people do you know growing mushrooms in their shower?

"People are not going to believe this," I said. "I will have to take a picture of that mushroom and put it in the newspaper. Our bathroom will become a tourist attraction. The kids can sell tickets and cotton candy."

"You write anything about that awful thing and I will kill you," my wife said. And she heartlessly ripped the mushroom out of the wall and flushed it nearby.

"It is not a mushroom," she added, "it is a fungus; a dirty toadstool. People would think I am the world's worst housekeeper. It grew because the mortar behind the shower is always soaking wet. This shower will have to be torn out and a new one installed."

Mortar? I think she is still paying union dues.

A few dinners later we had cauliflower, which I hate. "If you grew this in the washing machine the Maytag people might put you in a TV commercial," I said.

And she said a few more of those words you might expect to hear from a construction worker, pounding the table with her hardhat.

After my wife reads this column I shall restore peace to the family by taking her out to dinner. And I will tell the waitress to put a little grout on the toadstools.

Onward and Upward.

Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond J. Trudgeon of Grayling wish to announce the engagement of their daughter, Janice Marie, to Calvin Hugh Gates, son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin H. Gates, Sr., also of Grayling.

A September 20th wedding is being planned.

Victory style puts Levin in favored role

Election year 1974 in Michigan has taken another step towards its climax.

Altogether the Aug. 6 primary was more-or-less routine, but a number of developments are worthy of note.

For example:

The ease with which Sander Levin exhibited his mastery over the Michigan Democratic party is worthy of special note.

Levin's win over former Detroit Mayor Jerry Cavanagh and conservative James Wells was strictly no-contest.

Levin will provide extremely rough going for Republican Gov. Milliken in the November general election. If the Democrats in Michigan ever all start pulling together, no Republican can come out on top. Levin may be putting together just that sort of invincible coalition.

The Democratic totals in the governor's primary were impressive. Of course there was no statewide contest on the Republican ballot, and only localized races of any significance; so why should Republican voters turn out at all, or stay in the Republican column if they did turn out? Why indeed.

But one thing is certain: Milliken is no shoo-in in November. At this point, although he is the incumbent, he even rates an underdog tag in my book.

Defeated candidate Cavanagh's days may be numbered as a top-flight statewide personality. This is the second time in as many outings that the former mayor of Detroit has come up short after the Democrats counted their votes, having lost to G. Meppen Williams in a recent senatorial joust.

The cloud of dust in which Cavanagh found himself after the Levin juggernaut roared past was thick and heavy. Was this Jerry Cavanagh's last hurrah? Don't bet on it. If he stays Healthy—which is a question—I'd bet that Cavanagh will be back before voters, possibly trying to be a judge next time.

The magic of the Cavanagh name seems to lend itself to the black robe and powered wig set in Michigan. Losing candidate Jerry Cavanagh's younger brother, Mike, was a winner on primary day.

Along with a guy named Kaufman, and another named Kelly, and yet another named George Montgomery, Mike Cavanagh will be a candidate for the state court of appeals in the second district. Who says name magic doesn't count in some election races?

In the first appellate district, the winners were Heading and Maher and Sullivan and yet another Kaufman, seeking for two seats in the November election. In the third, it will be Holbrook (no, not the one who already has been elected twice in the same district to the same court) and Walsh and Letts and Richardson.

And of course, in November we'll also have two seats on the state supreme court to be filled, with two of the candidates being incumbents Kavanagh (no, not Mike nor Jerry but Tom) and Fitzgerald, and the other two yet to be picked.

Electing judges? This year's grab-bag provides arguments against the system. Can't there be a better way?

Every once in a while, the good sense of voters comes dramatically to the fore. That happened again in the August primary when State Rep. John P. Smeekeens in the Branch-Hillsdale district got the boot.

Smeekeens, on the pan for several dubious dealings, ran third in a field of five Republican candidates. Whether the voters picked the best replacement is open to some argument apparently, but time will tell; at any rate, Smeekeens is out and that's good news in itself.

When you stop to think about it, the voter usually makes more good choices than bad ones.

At least, we hope so. That's how the game of representative government works.

Editor's Mailbox

Dear "Whitey"

Do you remember several weeks ago I asked you if I could write a letter to the Editor? I added, "I'll be very polite about it. Go you know what you said?" "You never said anything polite in your life." Now I have known the Editor since he was in the first grade and we say things like this to each other quite often so I wasn't insulted. Here is my letter to "Whitey" and to anyone else it may apply to.

Two years ago when I was chairman of the Centennial, I was downtown one morning bright and early and a young man that I am very fond of was sweeping the street in front of his employer's place of business. When he had the dirt all swept in a pile he didn't sweep it out in the road but put it carefully in a dust pan to empty into a trash barrel. I noticed later he had a piece of paper in his hand and he said to me, "I just jotted down something to muse about." I asked him if I could read it. He handed it to me and when I had read it, I asked if I could keep it. Then I asked if I could have it printed. If anyone wants to know the young man's name, I'll be glad to tell them.

This is what he had jotted down to "muse" about. "Although I have lived in Grayling for the past 29 years less four years in the Armed Forces, I am utterly appalled at the condition of our city. I am amazed that the other natives like myself are content to sit by and watch this town become filthier and filthier while they sit in their Ivory Towers mulling over such things as "Cable T.V.," a street through to the new Golf Club House and similar trite issues that confront the city while the city itself is slowly but ever so surely disintegrating. I am positive beyond the shadow of a doubt that they would accomplish much more needed functions were they to put down the pencils and papers and pick up a shovel or broom to do something about this atrocity of a city they call Grayling. I personally would be ashamed to have any of my ancestors return and see what we have done with their own in this our 100th year. I am afraid that their idea of progress would be a far cry from what we consider it and I must readily admit that they would be exactly right. After reading this we will undoubtedly find many people, organizations, politicians, etc. to blame, but your search for the responsible party will most certainly be in vain. TRY THE MORROR. From the man standing in the welfare line to the most honored pillars in our community. WE ARE TO BLAME."

To me the above was a masterpiece. Here was the Centennial, less than three weeks away, strangers coming to town and I too looked around and was appalled at the condition of the city. A dirty filthy little city called Grayling. I watched for a while and saw several other merchants come out of their stores and sweep the dirt from their sidewalks out in the streets, saw the wind catch the dirt and blow it in the next block. These same merchants are the ones that constantly holler because Grayling's main street is so dirty.

Shortly after I ran into Jack Pine. I didn't tell him about the piece of paper in my purse but I did say I was going to write a letter to the Editor about our dirty little city. His exact words and I quote. "For God's sake don't do it now. You're Chairman of the Centennial, you've made enough enemies as it is so keep your mouth shut." I did.

Grayling had just passed an ordinance about junk cars, trash in your yards and place of business etc. I went to the city office and asked the very polite grey haired gentleman to take a ride with me while I pointed out some eyesores. His answer was "I realize it's bad Sir, but the ordinance is just new and when people have lived like this most of their lives you can't change them over night." Now he was polite. He said people. I call them slob. I went home to see what Mr. Webster said a slob was and he said an untidy person. I like the word slob better.

Last year I was going to try again to put my letter in the paper. I was President of the Historical Society. We wanted donations and articles of historical value. Jack Pine said "No way. You can't call a person a slob while you're asking him for a favor."

So this year I had to write my letter. Jack Pine, you first. I hope you are not feeling so miserable this week and that your runny nose is better. Then you will be in a mood again to be "creative" instead of critical. And you better get out Ann Lander's wet noodle and give yourself a few good cracks because you should get the true facts about the city before you blast off. You spoke of the hole in the road on Peninsular big enough to lose a good sized dog in. Well I happened to be in one of our neighboring cities last week and I hit a hole in the road that I could have lost my car in.

I guess you didn't know that when the income tax was voted in in 1972, it stated that it's use was restricted to new roads, curbs, gutters, storm sewers and not one cent could be used for the maintenance of existing streets.

Secondly you stated the city bought two houses back of Olson's store to tear down to make nice new parking lots. Woops, you slipped again. The city does not have one dime in those houses. They were bought by the merchants with the cooperation of the GIDC (Grayling Industrial Development Corporation). The city did tear them down and helped with the preliminary leveling to aid the merchants. (I got this information from City Hall).

Then you state, to further compound the stupidity, the lovely lilac bushes at the back of the two sites were all torn out. Now who is being stupid? Of course everyone loved the Larsen lilacs but can you imagine trying to manipulate cars on a busy day around a huge bunch of lilac bushes? Lastly you stated "Maybe, maybe when the city Fathers can turn their attention long enough away from the past and the Milltown Festival they will consider the present and the future."

The city Fathers had nothing to do with the Milltown Festival. The Motel Association encouraged the formation of the Festival. Then when the committee was elected and failed in their ability to put it together, the Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce took it over and got it going. You've heard of that organization? Some people claim they just sit around and do nothing. Well there's one thing I'll always give you credit for Jack Pine. You've always backed the Chamber to the hilt because you and I know we've got the best there is. You see I still have a few kind words for you and the following is not meant for you. (Unless of course the shoe fits).

It's meant for the people that constantly pan the city for things they know nothing about. For years the council worked for a measly $5.00 a meeting. Sometimes staying as late as midnight trying to solve Grayling's problems and listening to dingbats coming to take up their time telling them how to run the city.

Recently, a Compensation Committee of local citizens appointed by the mayor and with the advice of the council met and raised the pay of the council and it wasn't half enough for the work they do and the abuse they take. And what a howl some of our citizens set up. I wish some of them would run for council, walk in their shoes for awhile and see how long they would last. Sure they have their faults, they know there are holes in the road.

I complained to them about the weeds that should be cut. They agreed but told me when weeds get that tall they need a mowing machine with cycle bar and that machine costs in the neighborhood of $5,000. Then they took me for a ride and showed me that 80% of the weeds are on private property. Go take a look at the weeds around the property by the Elementary school. The strip on Norway belongs to Penn Central. And speaking of streets, Norway should come up with first prize. Some places (not all) are a disgrace. Weeds, old junk, broken signs propped up against the buildings.

The city has provided free trash removal and some people are too lazy to carry the bags to the street. It's pretty discouraging to try and keep your own place up when maybe the house next door has an old broken washer on the front porch and the back yard filled with old tires and junk. Now here is my gripe with the city and I told the polite man from the city hall and he agreed.

They also passed an ordinance to write these so-called untidy people a letter, give them so many days to clean up and if they didn't do it, the city would, and bill them for it. But the city didn't do it, they were too soft hearted so now they better get busy and follow up on their plans.

Grayling has the potential of being the greatest little town in the north. Beautiful schools and churches, a magnificent bank building, a lovely court house, one of the best hospitals in the north. The Michigan Consolidated Gas building is a masterpiece. We have Bear Archery, some other up and coming small factories, good motels and restaurants, an excellent golf club and a town filled with about 40% slob. A big hand for Bill Weaver for what he did to the terrible eye-sore at the corner of Michigan and old 27. To Jim Shepler, The Grayling Restaurant, Olsons, The Grayling Mercantile and Al and Jessie's Cafe, also the Plaza and Aubrey's barber shop.

Look at the beautiful spot Clyde Borchers has made with a corner that was not so attractive and Van's place is a delight to look at now. To the other stores that have not got to the Milltown fronts yet, they are at least keeping them up, painting the fronts and washing the windows.

But the apathy of the town bothers me.

When you're down state and someone mentions the town of Grayling with the pretty petunia borders, you all throw out your chest and say "That's my town." But how many of you ever turn a hand to help? The Woman's Club did it for years unassisted until they got tired and quit. Charlie McNally took it upon himself to do it, even right down to the wedding until after several years he gave up.

Now Marian Joseph, determined that the project should not die has been doing it. The boys from Camp LaVictoire got the ground ready and Helen Nicholas and Diane Branch helped with the planting. Cathy Stancil planted the big round planters herself and weeds and waters them. Marian had time on the radio and articles in the paper begging for help but she got none. The other day I saw her down on her hands and knees weeding. Able bodied men with nothing to do but walk the streets should be ashamed if they saw this.

Five of us put our museum together and if it had not been for Mrs. Helen Moon and her RSVP ladies, some of them in their 90's, the museum could not have opened. We tried to get volunteers to go down and sit for a few hours three days a week, but no luck. Be sure you read Helen's article in the August 22nd issue of the Avalanche.

The Museum was dedicated on July 7th and opened July 18th. In that small period of time there have been 415 visitors. Less than 3% of the Grayling people have visited it. Aren't you people interested in anything but your own tight little circle? I had hoped that someday the sign on the outskirts of the city might read "Milltown" Grayling, Michigan, most beautiful city in the north. But unless some of you so-called untidy people pull up your socks, get in there and clean up and all pull together, the sign on the outskirts of town will read "Slobville" Grayling, Michigan, dirtiest little town in the north.

If I have stepped on someone's toes, I'm glad. Maybe you'll get out and take a long hard look at your place of business or residence and see if I'm talking about you.....then do something.

Thank you Whitey for giving me all your precious space.

Laughing children splash and splutter in the shallows. Farther out, big boys race and tear in noisy games of tag. Fathers show their children how to swim, while mothers smile encouragement. Lovers nestle close on striped blankets, and grandmas nod sleepily under big-brimmed hats. The day is good, a day of sand and sea and clear blue sky.

Then a whistle shrieks, and laughter stills as life guards work to save a life. Dread hovers, and even when the child is safe within his mother's arms, for some the day is tarnished.

It's easy to be gay on picnic days. But, when tragedy comes close and fears clamor, life's happiness is a temporary thing. Where can you find confidence?

Your church has the answer. It is the abiding place of God. Within its fellowship through prayer and worship, you can learn that God is the center of your life and that His goodness never wavers.

National Guard Pay Raise Includes Former Members

Major General Clarence C. Schnipke, the Adjutant General of Michigan, announced today that individuals who were Guardsmen during the period October 1 to December 31, 1972, are eligible for a retroactive pay increase as a result of delayed implementation.

Individual former National Guardsmen (October 1 to December 31, 1972) may make claim at the nearest National Guard unit. The unit will forward the claim letter form to the Adjutant General's Office for verification. Where distance is not a factor, General Schnipke encourages individuals to apply at their former unit.

Dependents or beneficiaries of deceased Guardsmen, who would have pay due, may apply for the pay difference. Retroactive pay for current Guardsmen, who were Guard members during the pay increase period, will be processed automatically by their parent unit.

Found—Ancient Artifact

The curator of ancient history of the Grayling Rotary Club announced the discovery of a strange but cheap brass bell. According to legend, this bell was used occasionally by a now extinct subculture which once thrived in the Grayling area. As can best be determined, this subculture met its demise by eating and talking itself to death.

Led to ruination by its part time leader and lesser known chief, Harold. The Cubby, this subculture of has-beens posed as a service tribe among other of its con-type operations. Identification has been made difficult as descendants of the original members are too embarrassed to come forward; however, all interested parties may view this homely artifact at the Rotary Club meeting, Noon, Wednesday, at the Holiday Inn, when it will be removed from the vault and placed on display.

Kirtland Receives Honors

The annual statewide convention of M.L.P.N.A. (Michigan Licensed Practical Nurses Association) was recently held at the Roynce Highlands Inn, in Harbor Springs. Kirtland Community College was one of three institutions that received an award for 100% membership in the M.L.P.N.A.

One day of this convention, which meets once a year, is designated student day. Students from the various institutions participate in full uniform and recognition is paid to the students. Mrs. Gail McAllen, class president of Kirtland's Practical Nursing Class, gave the student response. The Association expressed its approval to Mrs. McAllen for her presentation and her speech will appear in the official publication of the practical nurse organization.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank Dr. Dosch and Dr. Burkley and nurses of Mercy Hospital for the wonderful care I received while a patient there, and thanks to all the friends and neighbors for flowers and cards. Also, special thanks to Rev. Arnoe and Rev. Simmons for their visits and prayers. May God Bless each one.

WOTM News

August 5th was enrollment but as we had no new members, we went down to the basement and played gift bingo. A light lunch was served.

On August 19th our regular meeting was held. We talked about going to the Moose picnic. A rummage sale is being planned for Sept. 28th, so if you have anything to give, please leave it at the Lodge. It has to be clean and in good shape.

On Sunday, August 25th, the annual Moose picnic was held at Hargrove Lake. From what I saw and heard everyone had a good time. Dawn Newpower of the Women of the Moose Chapter 367, Bay City, won the necklace. Thanks to the cooperation of the DNR for what they did to help us. Don't forget on Sept. 9th the publicity committee is having a crazy hat contest. Anyone without one gets fined.

ABWA News

The Grayling Chapter of the American Business Women's Association met for their monthly dinner meeting on Tuesday, August 20th, in the dining room of the Chief Shoppenaggon Hotel.

The membership was honored to have five guests present. Martha Austin and Ruth Funck are both employed at Mercy Hospital. Susan Meoak, our scholarship recipient who is currently attending Baptist College in Lynchburg, Virginia, expressed her enthusiasm and thankfulness for our chapter's assistance, which should give us all a good deal of pride.

Fraser Dean, Superintendent of the Crawford AuSable Schools was our speaker for the evening. He spoke on the growth in the community in relation to the present student status. Many interesting programs will be initiated this coming school year, including a fulltime school nurse, the continuance and expansion of the pre-school program, also, the encouragement of "after school" student involvement with the availability of a "satellite" bus to return the students home at a later hour. He touched on two "good and bad" subjects - labor and taxes.

Elizabeth Batchelor of the Chi Ab Wa Chapter of Owosso was our guest also. She is employed at the Owosso Savings Bank and is vacationing at Higgins Lake. If her friendliness is as contagious within her chapter's membership, then we should all take her up on the invitation to visit her chapter in Owosso. They meet at the City Club on the third Wednesday of the month.

Our Chapter's Annual Boss Night will be a joint venture this year. With ABWA celebrating their 25th anniversary, we will have "Boss Night" and "25th Year Enrollment Event" on Tuesday evening, September 17, at the Grayling House. Reservations only. Cathy Bloomquist and Marilyn Longworth, chair-ladies of these events, are looking forward to an outstanding sell-out! Their committee have been working with enthusiasm to make this an evening to remember.

Happy Birthdays were wished to three of our members who celebrated their birthdays in August - Jini Hindmarsh, Gloria Rasmussen and Marilyn Longworth.

The scrapbook displayed by chairman Pat Schreiner brought delight to both our old and new members.

Theresa Ellison of White Pine Chapter in Lansing, past president of Grayling Chapter, sent congratulations

Another Arts and Crafts Day To Be Scheduled at Kirtland

50 Senior Citizens attended Kirtland's Arts and Crafts Workshop held this past month. Mrs. Margaret Whitehead, instructor, said "she has never worked with a more cooperative and interested group as those Senior Citizens who attended this workshop."

The Senior Citizens completed five new crafts and were treated to a light lunch all for $6.00 per person. The response of the group was so favorable that Mrs. Gould, Director of Kirtland's Senior Citizen Program, hopes to schedule another successful Arts and Crafts Day this fall. For more information write or call Mrs. Gould at the Senior Citizens Center, 308 Lawndale Drive, Grayling, Michigan. Phone 348-8322.

Nursery

iences for him, his chances are even better.

Nursery is a way for us to give our children new playmates, new experiences (through field trips, etc.), and an interested teacher who can stimulate curiosity and creativity. Many children before school age are ready for some identity of their own outside the home; nursery provides this, while teaching them to respect and accept the differences of others.

Pat Wilson, (Mrs. Doug Wilson), is our new teacher for both the 3 and 4-year-old groups. She is educated and has experience in the field of pre-school and primary education. Mrs. Wilson says, "A nursery experience should help a child develop a good self concept. We want to increase his self-confidence and widen his world."

At nursery, kids also play on large indoor climbing equipment, and are led to appreciate music and rhythm. This sort of play develops motor skills which educators feel are of great importance to a child before school age. A feeling that he is a physically capable, well-coordinated person will aid him later on, when he does tackle academic work.

In a co-op nursery, mothers actually help teach, under the guidance of the teacher. We learn by experience how children develop socially, emotionally, and physically, and can delight in being part of our child's first steps into the world of education.

Count to ten? Say your ABC's? Fine, if Billy wants to. But he won't be pushed, or quizzed, or asked to compete at nursery. Our three R's might be called: 1) A Respect for others; 2) A Richer environment; and 3) a more Rounded personality for your child.

Nursery begins September 30. Write for an application form and information to: Mrs. Robert E. Seidel, R.R. #3, Box 3106, Grayling, Michigan 49738.

Volunteer Anyone??

"Help Me Read"

Labor Day weekend!!!! Is it possible that summer has passed so quickly? One needs only to walk up and down Michigan Avenue and see the Maple Trees shedding their colorful leaves to realize that it is not only possible but a reality!

School for the children in the Crawford AuSable School District begins Wednesday, September 4, with the exception of Kindergarten, which begins Thursday, September 5. As the new school year begins the Volunteer Aide Program embarks on its FOURTH YEAR of service to the Frederic and Grayling Elementary Schools.

What Do Volunteers Do? In the past, volunteer aides have worked in a variety of jobs. Classroom aides work for a specific teacher doing any number of important "non-teaching" tasks. Tutors work with students in the Reading Room or with groups or individual students for a specific teacher. Under a trained teacher, a volunteer can help students develop at their own pace. Library aides help the school Librarian a couple hours a week or month sorting and mending etc. Special Materials aides perform an unending variety of jobs such as making teacher aids, posters, checking papers...and the list goes on. Lunchroom aides help the noon lunch hour run smoothly by seating children, encouraging the children to finish their lunches, helping to wipe off tables, etc.

A volunteer aide can spend as many or as few hours working as their schedule will permit...an hour, a morning or afternoon or one day a month. These are only a few typical services. There are many other needs which volunteers can fill on the school team. If you are interested in more information concerning the Volunteer Aide Program in the Crawford AuSable Schools please contact Irene Pettyjohn at 348-7641.
